Obstacles were also placed on the tracks, and the depredations, who seemed to number about a dozen, sought to ground the trolley wires at an isolated point south of Saratoga. A force of private detectives was hurried to the point, and it was there that revolvers were drawn and shots exchanged. Two men alleged to have been engaged in the depredations were arrested.

Mitchell Arraigns Mine Operators

Says They Have Raised Price of Coal From $6 to $10 Per Ton, to Save 15 Cents.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 29.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, has answered President Baer and Mr. Hewitt, declaring false most of their published statements regarding the mine strike. He said Baer's figures on wages in the anthracite fields were errors and that the hard coal miners receive from 20 to 40 per cent less money and work two hours more a day than soft coal miners.

Baer's declaration that the miners restricted the output in 1901 Mitchell flatly denies and quotes official reports showing the output was greater than ever before.

Regarding rioting, Mitchell declares the strikers have been orderly, that most of the reported violence is exaggerated or untrue. He blames mine guards for the greater part of the lawlessness, and says the union has ever worked to maintain peace.

He declares the pumpmen, engineers and firemen struck of their own accord and because their demands were refused.

Mitchell argues that the object of the operators is to crush the union, and declares the strike will never end until the questions are decided by arbitration.

As to Mr. Baer's statement that the operators cannot pay more than 10 to 15 cents increase in wages Mr. Mitchell says that last year the operators raised the market price 30 to 50 cents a ton and are now charging an excess of from $6 to $10 a ton to save the public 15 cents.

LITTLE PEOPLE ENJOY SERVICE

REV. J. T. HENDERSON PREACHES TO THE CHILDREN.

SUNDAY SCHOOL'S RALLY DAY

Little Folks Learn Valuable Lessons from the Parable of the Mustard Seed.

At the Presbyterian church the little ones held sway on Sunday morning. Rev. Henderson's discourse was addressed directly to the children, in such form and language as to be especially attractive to them, and again at the Sunday school session the children were brought to the front in honor of "Rally Day." A short program, consisting of recitations and songs, was given at the latter service, in which the members of the primary and intermediate departments figured most strongly. At both meetings the presence of the boy's choir which has been reorganized under the guidance of Mrs. Rexford, added greatly to the musical part of the worship.

At the Sunday school service the following program was given, after which the classes separated to take up the lesson as usual. In honor of Rally Day, the day on which the interest in the Sunday school is expected to be taken up with renewed vigor after the vacation relaxation, the assembly room was prettily decorated with bunting and flags.

Program
Song, Primary Dept.; Recitation, Willis Sutherland; Recitation, Ruth Wilkinson; Song, Boys' Choir; Recitation, Stewart Mills; Recitation, Dorothy Wilcox; Song, Ruth Kline; Recitation, Ethel Marsden; Recitation, Cora Holt; Duet, Gladys Heddies, Mabel Rustad.

Parable From Matthew
For the leading thought of his address to the children, Rev. Henderson took the parable of the mustard seed. His first remarks dealt with the small space in which the story is expressed, two verses from the thirteenth chapter of Matthew, in comparison with the breadth of its application. From this the preacher naturally led to the small size of the mustard seed itself, and to the fact that for all that, there is more of interest in it than in a large boulder.

A boulder may command the attention of the eye, because of its size, but it has not in it the same power which the mustard seed conceals. The little seed, which could easily escape observation, has in it the germ which will some day, under the proper conditions of sun and rain, develop into a tree. An acorn is not a thing to be afraid of, but when grown into an oak tree, in a storm it might fall and destroy a house, and perhaps the occupants of the house.

Has Great Power
This is the promise of power. And it is this power that is coveted by every boy or girl. The boy wishes to swim, or run a locomotive, or fly a kite; the girl wishes to be able to make a doll, or play the piano. In the same way as with the mustard seed and the acorn, the little boy or girl has promise of power, as he or she grows older.

There are two kinds of power; the power for good, and the power for evil. Different methods are used for learning the one than for the other, and while the boy or girl is still young is the time to learn. Will you let your life develop until it is like a tree, in which the people can come and nest, and find shelter; or will you let your life be as a weed which is good only to be plucked up and thrown into the fire?

For Evil
Sometimes a child has evil in him for which God must chasten him. Oftentimes punishment which seems very severe is given, but that is the Lord's method of training a child so that only the possibilities of power for good will be developed. It is not because of pleasure that the child is made to bear these punishments, but because it is necessary in order to train the child to develop his latent powers in the right direction.

Here in Janesville there are a great number of children who are attending the public schools. They are all still developing the power that is in them, and are still far from having reached the fullness of strength to which they are capable of attaining. The effect which these scholars will have on the city is dependent entirely on whether their powers are developed toward good or in the opposite direction.

Power Of Evil
If there is any power on earth which is equal to the power of good it is the power of evil. This can well be illustrated by a story told of Leonardo da Vinci at a time when he was painting the famous picture of the Lord's supper. After a long search he found a young man who seemed to possess the beauty of countenance which should be given to Christ himself in the picture. The youth accordingly engaged to act as a model, and from his face, was painted the face of the Lord as he sat at the table with his disciples.

When it was necessary to find someone to pose as Judas, even greater difficulties were encountered. At last one day a wretched beggar whose face bespeaking vice, excess, and loss of self-respect seemed to express the same motives which actuated the traitor, was induced to come as a model to the studio where the canvas was being painted. When the work was finished da Vinci learned by chance that his model for the face of the Judas was the same young man who had posed for the Christ face, but who had afterwards gone to Rome and had afterwards companions, including in joined low countenance had been changed from one extreme to the other. Such is the power of evil.

Face Speaks Loudly
It is the face rather than the lips which is heard by the world, and whether the face shall be beautiful or not depends directly upon the thoughts which are expressed in the face. The nature of the man moulds his countenance, and if his heart is corrupt it is impossible for him to present a fair exterior. The world has learned this and forms its judgments of persons by their appearance.

If there is one thing for which a little boy or girl has been put into the world more than another, it is that he or she may become a power for good, that he or she may be useful to the world. While the child is still young and has not yet attained full growth is the time when the right impressions should be received, and the first steps toward growth made in the right direction.

RELIGION TODAY PARTLY A SHAM

MEN DO NOT LIVE CLOSE ENOUGH TO GOD.

THERE ARE NO SELF-MADE MEN

Rev. A. H. Barrington Preaches an Able Sermon on "God in Practical Life."

At the Christ Episcopal church, yesterday morning, Rev. A. H. Barrington made an earnest appeal for a life closer to God. His topic was "God in Practical Life" and his sermon was impressive and convincing, his text being chosen from the tenth chapter of the gospel according to St. Mark, the fifty-first verse: "What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?"

Religion A Sham
In his introduction Rev. Barrington made the assertion that the religion of today is largely a sham. There is no reality in it in the large majority of cases. This must be true because so many are living apart from God. They think he is not interested in them personally and they do not desire him to care for them as long as they can care for themselves.

God Ever Present
What a difference it would make in men's lives if they would at all times realize the fact that the all-seeing eye is upon them wherever they are and that God's eye is upon his people because he is interested in them. When the feeling that God does not care comes to a man, he should recall the words of the psalmist: "Whether shall I go from thy spirit? or whether shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into the heaven thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

In time of distress and trouble who can man turn to but to God? In time of temptation who can he look to for deliverance but to God? In time of prosperity the words of Paul should be remembered that no matter who planteth or who watereth, it is God only that giveth the increase.

God in Practical Life
God enters materially into the practical life of the individual. The thought and hope of the individual is success. How is that success to be attained? The incidents of the rich young ruler who sought Christ and the story of the foolish man who stored his grains and whose life was required of him illustrate the fact that the life lived apart from God, even though prosperous in worldly goods, is lacking.

No Self Made Men
In these days one hears a great deal of the self made man who carves a fortune out of nothing. There is no such being in the world because there are no such conditions. The world was not made for that man, yet he, like all others, are agents, God had a purpose in creating the world and all men are his agents in carrying out that purpose.

When the time comes for the accomplishment of a special work God raises up a man. Such men were Abraham, Moses, God's incarnate son, the apostles, Selkirk and Luther. It is so in the secular world with Alexander, Napoleon, Caesar, Washington, Grant and Lincoln and even in this present day with Carnegie and Morgan as well as McKinley and Roosevelt.

Special Work For All
Every man and woman, without exception, is given a special work and for its accomplishment is given talents and the opportunity to develop them. Such success cannot be measured by dollars, by the praise of men or by self esteem. Every soul is subject to the higher power of God to whom talents and opportunity are alone due. In his sight only can man attain true success.

No Power But God
All power is of God and back of all man's attainment is the agency of God. When man recognizes this will he undertake to rob God of the credit or will he humbly thank him and give him his due? Will he look for more worldly success or strive to make his life noble in God's sight? It matters not how many talents a man has but whether he is faithful. The idea should not be selfish gain but meriting the commendation of God's "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

True Success
This is true success. The question is, What do you want? God has said, "Ask and ye shall receive." When the blind man, who was waiting for the opportunity, heard the Master's question, his answer was not indefinite. He knew that sight was the thing lacking in his life and he asked for it and received it. So man should know what is lacking and his eternal welfare depends on the earnestness and directness with which he answers the question, "What wilt thou that I should do unto you?"

How to Prove A Diamond's Worth
From an article on X-ray photography in Leslie's Monthly for October. In detecting a false gem from a genuine, the X-ray can be relied on with absolute certainty. Diamonds, as is well known, are pure carbon; and carbon, which is opaque to ordinary light, is transparent to the Roentgen light. On an X-ray photograph of a real diamond nothing will show but the shadow of the gold setting.

An interesting experiment was made recently in watching with the aid of an X-ray machine and a fluorescent motion picture on inside of an opaque body. A goose was fed with food mixed with sublimate of blamuth salt, which absorbs the X-ray. The passage of the food down the long neck of the goose could be plainly traced by the moving shadow cast on the fluorescent screen.

Hungry union sailors on a Chicago lake tug refused to eat food prepared by a non-union cook.

SOCIETY WEDDING IN EVANSTON

Miss Ella Lane's Marriage to G. R. Lamb Takes Place, October 15. Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Ella Lane, of Evanston, Ill., and George Richards Lamb of Waterbury, Conn. The happy event will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice T. Lane, 711 Reba Place, Wednesday, October 15.

The prospective bride is a granddaughter of Col. and Mrs. W. B. Britton of this city, and has frequently visited here, being very popular in society circles.

TWILIGHT CLUB WILL BANQUET

Date Is Set for October 14, and the Myers House the Place Chosen.

The first meeting of the Twilight club will be held at the Hotel Myers on Tuesday evening, Oct. 14. The topic selected will be national and state politics and the meeting will be led by A. E. Matheson. The balance of the topics will be announced on the evening of the first meeting.

The committee of arrangements consisting of Judge C. L. Fifield, Stanley D. Smith and Thomas S. Nolan met at Mr. Nolan's office on Saturday afternoon to arrange the program and pass on other matters pertaining to the session for the coming winter.

High Prices
On account of the high price of everything in the food line, Landlord Johnson has submitted a proposition to the club to furnish them the banquet at 75 cents per plate. As this is a considerable advance over last year's price the committee did not feel disposed to close a contract without an expression from the club in regard to the change.

Favor Myers House
The Myers House is the most convenient place for holding the meetings, and the committee think that even at the advance in the supper rates, it is cheaper than a hall and a caterer could be hired. The committee are in favor of the Myers but wish an expression of the club before anything is done in the matter.

WITH THE ATHLETES.

At the Glenview Links a tourney was arranged between the physicians who were members of the club.

Vanderpool at full back as a substitute for Driver of Wisconsin made a remarkably good showing for a new player.

On Saturday the foot ball season began in earnest with a number of practice games between the big teams and minor elevens.

Efforts have been made by the Chicago National League to sign Jake Stahl, the university of Illinois football captain, and catcher of the varsity team, to play next season.

Northwestern found a harder proposition than she expected in the Naperville team, and suffered the humiliation of being badly scored against and shut out in the first half.

It is likely that the low score of the Badgers against Lawrence was in part due to a disinclination to show their strength until the real championship tests are on.

Promise of repeated exhibitions of their old scoring ability was given by the Wolverines in their first game of the season. Alston was snowed under to the tune of 88 to 0.

After a severe struggle to secure permission to play foot ball the Waukesha high school is now preparing to put a strong team in the field. Principal Terry objected on the ground that the game is too dangerous and that it interferes with studies.

National League Managers will probably wish to return to former salaries if they succeed in exterminating the American League. The question is how the players will stand a cut in wages. The outlaw league answers by saying that the National League will never be able to force them off the diamond.

WILL READJUST TELEPHONE TOLLS

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COMPANY PLANS REORGANIZATION.

WILL END ONE-MINUTE TALKS

Plan is to Make Two Minutes the Shortest Time for Conversation.

According to a report from Milwaukee, the Wisconsin Telephone company will before long, take steps to readjust the present toll rate. Either the tariff of the one minute toll period will be so changed as to prevent further loss, or else the period will be abolished altogether.

In addition to this it has been said that the toll tariff of the state will be readjusted on the basis of two minutes as the initial period in place of the three minute period which now exists.

Gave Reasons
Milwaukee officials in explaining the cause said that the Wisconsin Telephone Co's. experience had been that the toll lines were used mainly during the busiest hours of the day, but that the time occupied in getting the parties together, for which no charge is made is greater than the actual revenue gaining time. The date set for the change is some time next month.

Alfred Slater, local manager of the Wisconsin line said, when questioned regarding the proposed change, that he had received no communication regarding the matter and had heard nothing of it. No notice of a change in toll rates had yet been issued to the office here.

Favored the Change
The readjustment of the toll rates met with Mr. Slater's hearty approval, and he stated that some such change is absolutely essential if the company wishes to make any profit from their long distance wires. Mr. Slater did not see any reason for discrediting the Milwaukee statement, and said that the plans would probably be perfected before any announcement of the innovation would be made to the different exchanges in the state.

Fire-Horses.

The fire-horses—two for light engines, and three when the engines weigh more than four tons—are trained as finely as the men. They are the pets of the house and of the neighborhood. Some of them learn in a week to run in their places at a signal; others require a month's training. The lessons are simple enough. A raw horse is made to feel the whip when he hears the signal-bell. If he is an intelligent animal, the two soon become synonymous that he starts for the place the instant the bell rings. Many horses seem to know quite as well as the men when the alarm is one that means business. They really seem to count the strokes. A story is told of one horse who, when changed from Harlem to a station near headquarters, was wild to run when his old number was sounded, and quite indifferent to the new one, which really meant business and to which he responded only under protest. The stories told in the department are endless. Some time ago an old gray fire-horse that was attached to an engine was transferred to the hose truck in the same building. The two rooms were connected by an open door. One night there was an alarm. The hose-truck men were dismayed to find that their old gray horse had disappeared. They thought that he must have been stolen. The engine had left for the fire, and disgrace was imminent for the hose-company. Suddenly a horse was heard kicking in the engine stalls, next door, and although it was not the missing gray, it was quickly forced into hose service, and the company got off a minute late. At the fire there stood the old gray horse harnessed to the engine. After two excitement was all over the mystery was explained. After hearing the familiar alarm the gray had trotted in next door, and finding a strange horse in his usual place, had pushed him out of the way back into the stall. The firemen in their hurry, had not noticed the substitution, and had harnessed the horses as they stood and left. A good fire-horse will last about six years, and will stand heat and excitement when even men are driven back. From "Fire-Fighting Today and Tomorrow," by Philip G. Hulbert, Jr., in the October Scribner's.

Cosmopolitan

There was a king once who upbraided his courtiers for paying excessive attention to ceremony. "Your Majesty," replied a courtier, "forgets that you yourself are only a ceremony." This is practically the test of this article which W. T. Stead contributes to the Cosmopolitan for Oct. on the real significance of the coronation. Mr. Stead throws an interesting light on the King's habits of life and mental attitude toward his subjects and compares the state of democracy in Great Britain with the democracy of the United States. Even those who do not altogether agree with Mr. Stead's conclusions always find him interesting as a writer, and "The Coronation and Its Significance" is no exception to the rule.

Alfred J. Waterhouse, known in the West as one of its sweetest singers, has now made New York his home. The New Amsterdam Book Company announces for the holidays a book of his children's poems under title of "Lays for Little Chaps." Mr. Waterhouse has been a lawyer, and has given up active practice and devotes himself entirely to literature. He is now doing considerable feature work for the New York Times.

The New Amsterdam Book Company have just added to their long list of well known Red Letter Series of paper-covered novels the following titles: "Tristram of Blent," by Anthony Hope; "Three Men on Wheels," by Jerome K. Jerome; "Joan of the Sword Hand," by S. R. Crockett; "With Sword and Crucifix," by Edward S. Van Zile; and "The Garden of Swords," by Max Pemberton.

New Amsterdam Book Company offers to them who read to be amused, "Beyond the Great South Wall," by Arnold Bennett. It may not be literature of the highest type, but its mighty interesting reading.

The Pea Soup Riot.
As the war went on, only peas, dried peas, seemed plentiful, and we made them up in every variety of form of which dried peas are capable. In soup they appeared one day; the second day we had cold peas; then they were fried (when we had the grease); baked peas came on the fourth day; and then we began again with the soup. . . . At last convalescing nature could stand it no longer. I was told the men had refused to eat peas, and had thrown them over the clean floor, and daubed them on the freshly whitewashed walls of their dining room.

Like naughty school boys, I found these men throwing boiled peas at each other, pewter plates and spoons flying about, and the walls and floor covered with the offensive fluid. "What does this mean?" I asked. "Do you Southern men complain of food which we women eat with out repugnance? Are you not ashamed to be so dainty? I suppose you want pies and cakes."

"They are filled with worms," a rude voice cried. "I do not believe you eat the same." "Let me taste them," I replied, taking a plate from before a man and eating with his pewter spoon. "This is from the same pea pot. Indeed we have but one pot for us all, and I spent hours this morning picking out the worms, which do not injure the taste, and are perfectly harmless. It is good wholesome food."

"Mighty colicky, anyhow," broke in an old man. The men laughed, but taking no notice of the fact which all admitted, I said: "Peas are the best fighting food. The government gives it to us on principle. There were McClellan's men eating good beef, canned fruits, and vegetables, trying for seven days to get to Richmond, and we, on dried peas kept them back. I shall always believe that had we eaten his beef and they our peas, the result would have been different." Emily V. Mason in the Oct. Atlantic.

Mr. Roosevelt, His Party and The Trusts.

(From The World's Work.)
The political shadow that overshadows every other is: Will Mr. Roosevelt win his party from too close fellowship with these great financial interests? For a long time the republican party has been the party of the rich man, and the democratic party the party of the poor man. It is true that this difference has not always been quite so frankly expressed on platforms. It is true, too, that the republican party has done historic service to the poor man and the democratic party has more than once run after the rich. Still this very general distinction holds. The republican party has at its command the larger financial interests. It has served them; it has depended on them; it was unfortunate both for the party and for the great financial interests that at the last two presidential elections the democratic attack on sound currency strengthened more than ever their hold on the republican party. Mr. Roosevelt has no wish nor no intention loose to offend capital (to use the loose political phrase of former campaigns), nor to unsettle industry; nor will he do so. Nothing is further from his purpose or wish. But the fear of criticism, or even of the personal opposition of great financial leaders, does not for a moment deter him from a straightforward speech or action; and he can not train with the leaders that are shod with silence when Wall Street is mentioned. In the meantime it is to be said that Mr. Roosevelt, who he shows independence of them, is building up a political machine of his own.

All this conglomeration of facts and rumor, of whispered accusation and unconscious as well as conscious divergence, was inevitable. It is the necessary clash of the old republican strongly fortified policy of silence about the kingdom of the rich and the frank and fearless manner of Theodore Roosevelt.

GENERAL ALGER TO BE SENATOR

Governor Bliss Appoints Him to Fill Vacancy in Senate.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—The most pleased man in Michigan is General Russell A. Alger, ex-Secretary of War, having been tendered the Senatorial toga of the late Senator James McMillan.

At midnight Saturday General Alger received the offer of the appointment from Governor Bliss to hold until the legislature acts in January, and he smilingly said he would accept the unexpected honor.

Asked as to how he stood on the questions that are now uppermost in the republican party, the General said he had most decided opinions on the tariff and on Cuban reciprocity, but he refused to state his position, for the reason that it would appear unseemly for a man who was not yet sworn in to make statements that might be altered.

The General was the recipient of many telegrams of congratulations from men of national prominence.

Trouble Between Factory Owners and Men in Aurora Settled.

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 29.—All the local labor problems which have turned the city upside down for the past ten weeks are settled. A proposition made by the well works of an increase of 10 per cent at the present time and a nine-hour day to take effect on January 1 was accepted. The strike at the Hoover-McKay waist factory and the Morelock wrapper factory also came to an end, the management conceding to the demands asked by the employees.

When there is disease of the delicate female organism, it is only a question of time until the general health becomes undermined. Nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and "sinking spells" produce suffering almost indescribable. There can be no restoration of the general health until the local health of the womanly organism is re-established.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It encourages the appetite, tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"You would be surprised if you could have medicine and could see me now," writes Mrs. Isaac S. Harris, of Gayville, Yankton Co., S. Dakota. "I had no appetite, was completely run down. Have had stomach trouble for years and was so nervous I could not sleep. We have spent a lot of money doctoring, but there was not one thing that I took that did me any good, except for a short time; but I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' In three days after I commenced taking his medicines I could see a change for the better, and from that time I have steadily been getting better. Can walk or ride to any place I want to, and I feel like a new person. Since taking Dr. Pierce's medicines I can sleep all night and never get 'up tired' in the morning; can eat anything and it don't hurt me."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

BARNEY ATTACKS THE GOVERNOR

Mr. Cash gave way to Judge H. W. Barney, a life long active republican and one of the best known as well as oldest citizens of this section of Wisconsin. He said:

"Judge Rose, there are in this audience quite a large number of republicans, among them scarred veterans of the civil war. Others who have been workers in the republican party ever since its organization, men who were fighting the battles of the party when La Follette was in his mother's arms, who are here tonight wearing the Rose. Why? Because they do not believe in the visionary and insane schemes which La Follette is endeavoring to pass upon the people. Because they do not wish to lodge both the executive and legislative functions of the government in one reckless, visionary man, who they believe would sacrifice any man or any interest for his own benefit. Because they wish to preserve a few at least of the old time-honored institutions of the state. Because they believe that the presence of a conservative executive in the chair will be a check to wild legislation. Because they believe it is necessary to have such a governor at this time, and because they believe you are the man for the place in this exigency they pledge you their support, and they give you their pledge in this bouquet of roses which they now ask you to accept from the Rose republicans of Mauston."

During Judge Barney's address an impressive silence prevailed which was broken at its conclusion by applause in which many of the audience joined.—Exchange.

This incident, which occurred at Mauston the other day, speaks for itself, and while it is deplorable it expresses a sentiment that exists throughout the state, and that will not down.

A GOODLY METROPOLIS.

Wisconsin has occasion to be proud of its metropolis. The city noted for its beauty is distinctively noted for its homes. It possesses more than wealth, which it enjoys in rich abundance, for it is peopled with a class of citizens who have discovered that it pays to take time to live. This means contentment and happiness to a degree that is not equaled by any American city.

Milwaukee, like Philadelphia is a busy city, but people never hurry. They may lunch on a sandwich and a glass of beer, but plenty of time is given to digestion.

Many people are possessed of the notion that the city is principally noted for the manufacture of beer, and that the first requirement of good citizenship is tank capacity. Others have the idea that all business is suspended after four o'clock, and the city given over to beer guzzling, all of which is untrue.

Milwaukee is a law respecting and a law abiding city. It is a rare thing to see a drunken man on the street, and crime, as the result of dissipation, is extremely rare. The city is temperate in every thing that contributes to the welfare of the municipality, because of its conservative level headed constituency.

While it is famous for the manufacture of beer, this industry is by no means in the lead. It is the leading leather market in this country, and supports some of the largest tanneries in the world. The city is also noted as a manufacturing center, and prominent among its industries are the shoe factories.

One of the largest of these factories, occupying three and one-half acres of floor space, is the plant of the F. Mayer Boot & Shoe Co. The business was started twenty-two years ago, in a modest way, by Mr. Mayer, and has kept pace with the growth of the city. Forty salesmen on the road handle the output furnished by 600 hands, and the Mayer shoe enjoys an enviable reputation throughout the West.

Wisconsin merchants who are in the habit of going out of the state for their goods, will do well to look over the home market. They will be both surprised and gratified. The state has an interest in Milwaukee, and that city is entitled to loyal recognition.

ALL FOR HARMONY.

The atmosphere has been heavy for the past few days with gossip about harmony, and all because the La Follette State Central Committee after long delay, has opened headquarters and the governor has escaped from hiding, and decided to take a hand in the campaign.

The talk is stimulated by the fact that Senators Spooner and Quarles have returned to the state and have announced their intentions to take the stump in the interests of the republican party.

The governor's Milwaukee organ, with a club out for Senator Jones of Waukesha, and every other republican who does not wear the yoke, is gleeful over the statement that the United States senators will support the LaFollette platform and discuss local issues.

Senator Quarles possesses independence of mind enough to say that he will confine his efforts to the discussion of national issues and that state candidates and other speakers will look after local affairs. Senator Spooner will doubtless do the same. The republican party makes no demands upon these gentlemen to defend La Folletteism.

They are not asked to sacrifice either dignity or principle by defending a platform that questioned the loyalty of the senior senator, and that served notice on General Winkler and republicanism to get in line or get out. Neither are they expected to array themselves against Senator Stout and George Buckstaff in defense of the school book scandal.

The senators have political sense and some regard for political decency. La Folletteism has cast a slight upon the republican party in the state which time and the exercise of political common sense can alone remove. Every effort to harmonize with it has proved futile, and it was long since discovered that the only effective plan was by adopting the policy of the lamb that lay down with the lion. The lamb in this case is altogether too vigorous and too active to seek that sort of rest.

Harmony! the word sounds pleasant, but it is an idle dream. The republican party is very much alive and it will continue to live both in the state and nation, long after La Follette is forgotten. Republicans will vote for every republican on the ticket. The party will control the legislature, and return a full delegation to congress, but there will be some political funerals before harmony is restored.

It is a new experience for Senator Stout and Mr. Buckstaff to be questioned on truthfulness and veracity, but this is a reform era and anything out of the ordinary is liable to happen. The public will not demand an affidavit and the gentlemen will continue to enjoy a good credit.

Mr. Bryan is devoting his Commoner very largely to speeches as made in congress some years ago. A writer whose vanity prompts him to publish his editorials in book form is capable of anything.

The Milwaukee Free Press says that the abolishing of game wardens would mean the destruction of all game. That's a new argument. If game suffered what would happen to fair-minded democrats?

Wall Street don't like Secretary Shaw, but the country does.

Wouldn't you like to be the coal man?

PRESS COMMENT.

Appleton Post: Dave Rose is like Caesar in that he comes and sees, but unlike him in that he does not conquer.

Winnebago Local: The Local is fortunately rich enough to be admitted to the fraternity of tax-dodgers. The coal bin is full down to the house.

Ashland Press: Mayor Rose has ordered a half holiday in Milwaukee on the day set for the arrival of President Roosevelt. The mayor is obliging, especially when he knew that Milwaukee would make a day of it anyhow.

Waupaca Post: Some of the country weeklies who were subsidized by the Wisconsin republican league last spring are losing subscribers at a remarkable rate, now that the time of six months free subscription has expired.

Marion Advertiser: When a greedy office seeker talks sweetly about the "plain people," make up your mind that it is not them he cares a whit for, but it's the little white parchment voter controls at the polls that he wants.

Portage Register: If all the gentlemen now wearing little red roses in their buttonholes intend to vote for the democratic nominee for governor, Mr. Rose's plurality will rival that received by LaFollette two years ago. But they don't.

Marquette Star: In '06 the democrats were for silver. In '08 they were for tax reform, the primary election and the referendum. In 1900 they were against expansion and the trusts. This year they have given up supporting principles and are for "anything to win." But it will take more than one campaign to win even on that platform.

Racine Journal: Elijah H. at Zion City can boast of something like 60,000 intelligent American citizens who have been sufficiently hypnotized to agree to pay over to him one-tenth of their incomes every year. Nothing like this has ever before been seen in this country.

New London Press: In looking up the figures after election you will find that Hon. W. H. Hatten of this city ran ahead of his ticket. This election will be famous for "ticket slashing," and Mr. Hatten is the right kind of a fellow for the democrats of this county, if he is a republican.

Whitewater Register: A great many Whitewater citizens have taken to wearing the little pink rose. If someone would fashion a little miniature balloon to be emblematic of a "where-am-I-at?" state of mind, we guarantee that it would prove a more representative badge not only for the voters of this city, but for many in the state as well.

La Crosse Republican and Leader: Exact and reliable reports from the districts through which Rose has pushed his whirlwind campaign are to the effect that he has not been received with the enthusiasm indicated by the dispatches to Milwaukee. We understand that the greetings were rather formal and the attendance small. His audiences were from the floating population of the cities and villages he visited. Farmers and business men were scarce. The hoop-la-campaign may collapse before it is well begun.

Fond du Lac Reporter: Those Manitowoc girls who dressed themselves in blue overalls and red banana handkerchiefs, and then went for a trolley ride, are receiving considerable uncomplimentary attention from the state press. The girls say they did it for fun, and that they meant no harm to themselves or disrespect to the man that dally wears blue overalls. Society today takes on many un ladylike impulses, and its swiftness causes the mothers and fathers of twenty years ago to shake their heads.

MUST ENFORCE THE STATUTES

President Tells the Money King That All Who Violate the Country's Laws Must Expect to Suffer the Penalties Attached to Them.

Washington, Sept. 29.—"I am neither a bull nor a bear on Morgan stocks. I am President of the United States and sworn to execute the law. I will proceed against you or any of your combinations as quickly as I would against a striker, not because I am opposed to either capital or labor, except as either of them is a violator of the laws of the country."

This is the exact language used by President Roosevelt in reply to the protests of J. Pierpont Morgan against the action of the Attorney General in bringing suit against the Northern Securities company. Mr. Morgan had come to Washington to tell the President that Attorney General Knox had made a mistake and that the administration was being used to bear the Morgan stocks.

Setback for Morgan. President Roosevelt assumed the full responsibility for his Attorney General's action, and made the reply as printed above. It was a new experience for Mr. Morgan. He had been sitting on a financial throne in New York, about which crowded the men of finance and business, eager to have him take their money and do with it as he willed, for they believed that all Morgan touched would be converted into gold. Other men had tried to pool railroad interests and the Supreme court had said it was unlawful. Order Proceedings.

The attorney General and the Solicitor General of the United States expressed the opinion that the Northern Securities company was another plan for pooling the interests of two great transcontinental railways. The President directed them to proceed and enforce the law. He did not hesitate because the two most conspicuous men in this combination were J. Pierpont Morgan and James J. Hill. He knew they were the men who would be made defendants in a suit, but men counted for little as against the law. President Roosevelt looked to the enforcement of the law.

Shocks Money King. When he said this to Mr. Morgan the great financier was shocked. No other man had ever talked to him with such frankness, comparing him with a striker who breaks the law. He went back to New York convinced that Theodore Roosevelt was not planning to prevent the nomination of Roosevelt in 1904. He has been at work on those plans ever since. He wants a conservative President, who can have the confidence of the "business interests" of the country. Mr. Morgan regards himself as his combination as the greatest factor in the business interests, and, if allowed to have his way, he would increase their importance before the election in 1904.

Violate the Law. President Roosevelt has not sought to interfere with Mr. Morgan because of business, or personal, or political reasons. The offense he is given Mr. Morgan is purely incidental, due to the enforcement of the United States statute. The President has not changed his attitude toward trusts. He has never been "a trust buster." He admits that much of the antagonism to trusts is wholly without warrant and that the captains of industry should not be hindered more than is absolutely necessary for the public good. But where a trust and its organizers violate the letter and spirit of the law, the President simply follows his duty.

SUES THE CITY FOR AN ACCIDENT

H. C. Warner Fell from a Bicycle and Was Badly Injured.

H. C. Warner, by his attorney John J. Cunningham has served a notice on City Clerk Badger, that he holds the city responsible for injuries sustained by him on the night of Sept. 13.

The notice states that the claimant was riding along the street on his bicycle on September 13th, and when near the intersection of Prospect avenue and Wisconsin street, or at the south east corner near the old St. Mary's church, he collided with a large stone. The stone was two by three feet in size and was left in such a position that when his bicycle struck it he was thrown to the ground and the force of the fall was such that his right shoulder was broken and the ligaments and muscles torn loose. The bone that connects the shoulder blade to the spinal column was also cracked and he received numerous other bruises. His injuries caused him great pain and he demands compensation from the city for his sufferings, loss of time and for medical assistance. The notice was dated Sept. 27 and was served on the city clerk Saturday afternoon. It will be presented to the council this evening for action.

Two Street Cars Cannot Pass Each Other on the Same Track.

Two of the cars of the Janesville street railway company tried that old trick of passing on the same track near the Myers house corner about 7:30 this morning. The result was one of the cars had a broken fender and the operators on both of them were badly shaken up. One car was standing still and the motorman on the other miscalculated his speed and could not stop in time to keep from running into the other car.

BROKE THE LAW CATCHING FISH

CHARLEY HORN PAYS IN COURT FOR ILLEGAL FISHING.

IS CAUGHT AT HIS SET LINES

Deputy Warden Drafaul Brings the Prisoner Into Court After Capturing Fish.

Charley Horn of this city is the latest catch made by Deputy Game Warden Drafaul for illegal fishing in Lake Koshkonong. The warden have not been keeping very close watch on the lake of late and the set line fishermen have grown quite bold and a number of them have been operating quite extensively. Some complaint has been made to the state warden in regard to this and Deputy Drafaul was notified to look around a bit.

Set "Set-Lines."
Horn, in company with Tim Sullivan, have been conducting a summer resort on "Charley Bluff" during the season, and has been catching quite a good many fish on set lines.

Up At Day Break
Horn was up long before daylight so as to visit his lines before any warden got around. Drafaul was also an early riser and succeeded in getting Mr. Horn right at his work.

Horn had a nice lot of pike and these with his boat and other traps were seized by the warden and sold for $6.50.

Brought Into Court
Horn was brought to Janesville this morning by Deputy Warden Drafaul and taken before Judge Fifield. He pleaded guilty to the charge of fishing with set lines and was fined $10 and costs, in all $11.40, which he paid.

Warden Drafaul made a trip around the lake and took up a large number of lines which he destroyed. When Cap Johnson was at the lake a short time ago he took up and destroyed many lines, but the fishermen are not slow to put out new ones as soon as the warden leave the lake.

FARBER PLANS BIG ORCHESTRA

Under New Director Opera House Organization is Greatly Improved—
Will Play for Dances Also.

It has been gratifying to Janesville theater goers to note the improvement in the orchestra at the Myers Grand since Adolph Farber took the director's chair. In the course of a few weeks Mr. Farber believes that he will have an organization that will compare favorably with anything in this portion of the state, and his success thus far would seem to bear him out.

His plans are now going far beyond that of the theater work alone and he hopes soon to be able to fill any engagements where a high grade of music is desired.

Will be increased
In numbers, the orchestra will probably be increased also, although for engagements outside of the theater the full number will not always be used. If a capable man can be secured Mr. Farber hopes to add a viola player and perhaps others. If the plans which have been made materialize, the promoters of the new orchestra can count on the sincere gratitude of the people of the city, especially if the standard of the opera house music can be raised to a higher plane.

GO TO CHICAGO TO BUY HORSES

Fire and Water Committee in Windy City to Purchase a Fire Team.

The members of the fire and water committee and state veterinarian, E. D. Roberts, went to Chicago today to buy a pair of horses for the East Side hose wagon. One of the team is already out of service and the horse that has been used by the chief engineer is working in his place.

Will Take Time
Chief Engineer Klein thinks it will be ninety days before he is fully installed in his new office. It will take him a long time to get the fire alarm system ready so that he can make the shift from the engine house to the new office. The change itself will not take very much time, but getting all the wires and machines ready will use up the time.

ST. PAUL ROAD LAYING TRACKS

Engaged in Putting in Rails by the

The St. Paul road put a force of men at work today shifting the tracks around the new passenger station. The present switch tracks in front of the station will be removed and the permanent tracks put in. When the station is completed and the old freight house and old passenger station are removed it will make a great change in the appearance of that part of the city.

Two Street Cars Cannot Pass Each Other on the Same Track.

A SOLDIER'S LIFE.
Our life in the camp, during the days when we waited, oh, so patiently for orders, to move, was not monotonous. It was far from that. At four each morning first call sounded and at ten minutes past the bugles began their stirring call of "We can get 'em up. We can't get 'em up at all. We can't get 'em up at all. The sergeant is worse than the private. The lieutenant is worse than the sergeant. And the captain is worse than them all."

Long before those notes had died on the morning air the companies were in line and the sergeant was rapidly going over the roll.

Then came squad drill when the companies were divided into detachments of six and put in charge of a corporal and put through the facings and manual of arms. At five thirty came breakfast and it was announced in the same picturesque way by the bugles:

"Soup, soup, soup. Without a single bean. Porky, porky, porky. Without a streak of lean. Coffee, coffee, coffee. The meanest ever seen."

We all lined up at the head of the company street and preceded by the first sergeant, marched solemnly down to the cook tent and drew our morning rations of, shall I call it food? coffee made of chicory, hardtack if we were lucky and if not soggy bread and oat meal. Uncle Sam's commissary department had some of the wildest ideas as to food that were ever conceived. Here we were in a hot climate and being fed on rations that army officials all over the world are united in declaring being the most heating to the blood.

After breakfast comes police duty, cleaning the camp, each company is responsible for its own street and back as far as the guard line.

Company drill and then battalion drill the time up to eleven. At twelve comes mess call. Two thirty sees the regiment marching and counter marching in the hot sun. Brigade drill follows and at five comes guard mount and at six the sunset gun sounds. Out we march, blouses buttoned to the throat. Fatigue caps, not campaign hats, no leggings and shoes blacked. Out in the dying sun we march at a quick step. It is just as hot now as it was at noon even though that blazing bulb is slowly sinking in the west. As a regiment we have a reputation for a dress parade and though no one can see us way down here in the Georgia woods except a few razor back hogs, we follow out the custom, and for thirty minutes are on exhibition.

Supper over we have the evening to ourselves until nine. Two hours in the whole day. The band plays in front of the colonel's tent and we sprawl around at the head of the company streets and listen. Some tell stories, some sing, a few play cards by the light of candles stuck in bayonets. At nine comes roll call again, and at nine ten taps. The day is over.

Yet on the whole we have a good time. We are fed and clothed and in return we must march and drill and holler and frizzle in the sun the same as many of us have done when either hunting or fishing or camping and thought it fun. Each company has its wits and its wag and woe to the wag. His life is a burden. From first regiment down he is devoted. Finally he gets into the kitchen squad and there he must be respected.

Our kitchen, by the way, is the scene of many a fierce encounter. Our cook had been chosen because his name was at the first of the company roll, not because he knew how to cook. But he does the best he can and tries to make mouldy canned tomatoes look as though they had just been picked and vine canned beef tempting as a stew. A useless task but it is all we have. I remember one night while I was doing my turn as cook tent squad that the cook, a college graduate, told me to put the rice to soak. I filled a wash boiler, the chief article for cooking, half full of water and poured in some rice. The next morning there was nothing to be seen in the cook tent but rice. It was everywhere and the boys had to dig out the pans from under it before they could cook breakfast. I never did any more work in the kitchen.

Another company institution that was a never ending source of amusement to us that was the company mule team. Each man in the company had a particular ownership in this institution and the advice and admonitions that the poor company wagon driver had to undergo in the course of a day was wonderful. The mules when he got them were all green and unbroken and the driver assigned to them was picked by lot and not by experience. His task was a hard one. He must harness and drive this team the first time he tried if he did not he was the butt of all the company. I have seen the driver almost cry after having to listen to advice from his comrades for several hours, see his team go tearing down the road or through the woods in four different directions and have his late tormentors say, "I told you so."

Yet there was some consolation after all in being the company driver. No guard duty to do. He had his team to care for and he rode where his comrades marched. He could always sleep in his wagon or on a pile of hay and on cold or rainy nights when the water seemed to creep in everywhere he was dry and comfortable.

SENIORS GIVE BIG RECEPTION

AS SOCIAL WELCOME FOR THE FRESHMAN CLASS,

IN HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM

Members of the Faculty Are Also Guests of Honor at Pleasant Affair.

On last Saturday evening the High school building was the scene of the first social event of the present school year. The innovation in High school customs was a reception given by the Senior class in honor of the Freshmen and members of the High school faculty were also guests of honor.

The gymnasium floor was devoted to the reception and the guests were received on the landing just outside the door by the following reception committee for the Senior class—Winifred Fifield, Josephine Fenton, Stow Lovejoy, Will Curless, Irmagard Keller and Clara Shumaker.

Artistic Decorations.
The reception corner was transformed by a liberal use of draperies, rugs and screens and the interior of the gymnasium was especially attractive and cheerful. Several oriental cosy corners had been erected in different parts of the room, couches and draperies, rugs and pillows being used with artistic taste. The interior of these retreats was dimly lighted with a shaded electric light and the effect was very pleasing. The entire room was softly lighted and in the center a cosy corner surrounded by a pedestal on which stood a large palm, potted palms and great bouquets of purple and white asters further beautified the scene while ropes of purple and white paper chrysanthemums and stars in the same colors, which are the colors of the Senior class, were used effectively.

The quaint beauty of the decorations was largely due to the artistic taste of Harold Hall, who was chairman of the decorating committee, having as his helpers Mary Curless, Irene Crowley, Gardner Kavalege and Mary Roberts.

As soon as the guests had assembled a grand march served to break the ice and secure informality and sociability. Seniors and Freshmen were formed into two lines and then they marched around the room securing their partners by chance as they met. The march was led by Gladys Hedges and Harold Hall and some pretty figures were introduced. Nettle Holt presided at the piano and later Mary Curless and Mrs. Georgia Hyde furnished music for the games.

Unique Spelling Down
Several ping pong sets and other amusements served to pass the evening pleasantly. One of the most interesting features of the evening was a spelling down contest for members of the faculty. Elisabeth McKee presided and gave the teachers words peculiar to the branches of study in which they have classes. They were required to spell these words backwards and the contest was won by Miss Decker.

Members of the amusement committee were Elisabeth McKee, Stow Lovejoy, Belle MacGregor, Ida Stoddard and Kramer Doty.

Dainty Refreshments
During the evening refreshments were served on the gymnasium stage by a committee of Seniors. The serving table was prettily laid, its central decoration being a bouquet of purple and white asters, while shaded candlesticks stood on diagonal corners. The refreshments included lemonade, chocolate cookies, wafers and confections. Members of the refreshment committee were Irmagard Keller, Laurence Doty, Alma Brickson and Helen Estes.

Before good-nights were said, Jerome Davis, president of the Freshman class, made a very neat speech of thanks in behalf of the class and an equally happy response was made by Stow Lovejoy, president of the Senior class.

The entire affair was a pleasant success and much credit is due the subcommittees and to the general committee of arrangements, which included Winifred Fifield, Josephine Fenton and Charles Galbraith, as well as to the entire Senior class.

TEACHERS THREATEN A STRIKE

Educators Refuse to Accept Money
Raised by Gambling Devices.

Braidwood, Ill., Sept. 29.—Rather than accept money raised from gambling for their salaries they will close the schools. In recent years property values have so decreased that only enough is raised by taxation to run the schools for a few months of the year. The school board proposed to hold a fair, with a wheel of fortune and other games of chance. When word of the scheme came to the teachers they declared that they would have nothing to do with the schools if gambling was tolerated.

BURN A NEGRO AT THE STAKE SAYS HE DESERVED HIS FATE

When All is in Readiness the Brother and Husband of His Victim Apply the Torch to the Pile of Inflammable Material.

Cornith, Miss., Sept. 29.—Writhing in the flames of burning faggots piled high by hundreds of citizens, Thomas Clark, alias William Gibson, a young negro, was burned at the stake here after having confessed to one of the most atrocious crimes in the history of north Mississippi, the assault and murder of Mrs. Carey Whitfield on August 19 last. Before the torch was applied Clark stated that he deserved his fate.

The news of the negro's arrest and confession spread rapidly over the surrounding country, and incoming trains brought hundreds of people into the city to witness the execution. The crowds became so great that at midday the announcement was made that it had been decided to burn Clark at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Gather Wood for Pyre.

At 2 o'clock pine faggots and larger pieces of wood were carefully laid about an iron rod which was driven deep into the ground, and half an hour later it was announced that all was in readiness. At 3 o'clock the prisoner, heavily manacled, was taken from the jail by a posse of armed men, and followed by a large and excited crowd of men and boys, was led to the east gate of the negro cemetery, which is situated in the western part of the city. Faggots and wood had been piled high around the stake, and the negro was securely fastened to the iron rod.

Admits His Guilt.

Clark was asked if he cared to make a statement. He again said that he deserved the fate prepared for him, and asked that a letter be delivered to his mother and brother. He appealed to his brother to raise his children properly, admonishing them to beware of evil company.

Finally all was in readiness and the word was given to fire the funeral pile. The husband and brother of Clark's victim stepped forward and applied torches and in a moment the flames leaped upward, enveloping the negro. The clothing of the doomed man was soon ignited.

Feed the Flames.

The negro moaned piteously and the agonizing look upon his face told of the awful torture he was undergoing. Finally his head fell forward on his breast and in a few minutes he was dead. The flames were fed by the crowd until the body was burned to a crisp. Then the gathering dispersed and the town soon assumed its normal condition.

Last August Mrs. Whitfield, the wife of a well-known citizen, was found dead in her home. Her head was practically severed from her body, a razor having been used in his bloody work. Clark was arrested and finally confessed to the murder, and also told of other crimes that he had committed.

Tired

that's all. No energy, no vim, no vigor, no ambition. The head aches, thoughts are confused, memory fails. Life becomes a round of work but half accomplished, of eating that does not nourish, of sleep that fails to refresh and of resting that never rests. That's the beginning of nervous prostration.

"I was very nervous, and so tired and exhausted that I could not do my work. One dose of Dr. Miles' Nervine quieted my nerves and drove away the lassitude. Seven bottles did wonders in restoring my health."

How to Avoid Accidents.
The "Modern Miller" is responsible for the following rules to avoid death by accident. Showing, as they do, the concentrated result of much expert research and observation, they should be carefully considered.
"Never step into an elevator hatchway when the car is not there. Do not permit yourself to be run over by a street car or a railroad train.
Under no circumstances allow a brick to drop from a high building onto your head.
Be careful not to be in a place when a bolt of lightning strikes it.
Never fall from the top of a high building.
Do not take hold of a live electric light wire. Both you and the wire cannot remain alive."—Rough Notes.

The Most Popular Mississippians.
As a result of a popular vote in Mississippi the portraits of the following ten natives of the state will adorn the walls of the new capital: Jefferson Davis, L. Q. C. Lamar, E. C. Walthall, James George, S. S. Prentiss, J. M. Stone, George Polk, Dexter, William Sharkey, George Foote and J. L. Power.

Farm Laborers in Sweden.
There is a special class of farm laborers in Sweden who are given so many acres of land for their own use, in consideration of so many days' labor during the year for the owner of the farm. They are a sort of fixture to an estate, and their life exists in no other country.
